ABSTRACT

The 63 instruments in this bibliography describe a variety of attitude measures designed to assess teacher-student relationships and attitudes toward various school subjects, peers, and other school concerns. (Separate bibliographies on attitudes toward reading and mathematics are available.) Although all ages are represented, the tests target preschool through grade 3. This document is one in a series of topical bibliographies from the Test Collection (TC) at Educational Testing Service (ETS) containing descriptions of more than 18,000 tests and other measurement devices prepared by commercial publishers, teachers, educational institutions, professional associations, departments of education, counselors, etc. Each description contains the following basic information: TC Accession Number (a six-digit identification number assigned by the Test Collection); the title of the instrument; personal or institutional author; year of publication or copyright; availability source; grade level for which test is suitable; age level for which test is suitable; and abstract. Other information, which is provided when known, includes subtests, number of test items, and time required to complete the test. Information on accessing the Test Collection via Internet concludes the document. (HAC)

 AB ABSTRACT: This instrument was designed for use in the Colorado school improvement process to assist in "vision building," a procedure to define characteristics of schools for the future. Parents, staff, students, and non-parent community members rate each school characteristic on a four-point scale of agreement as to whether each characteristic is present or should be present in the school. Mean ratings are calculated and a "vision statement" can be prepared listing characteristics from the instrument that were rated highly by respondents.

AB ABSTRACT: Developed primarily for use in screening and identification of social skills deficits in elementary school students. Can be used as a single instrument or in combination with other social competence assessment methods, including teacher rankings, interviews, sociometric methods, direct observation in school settings, or parent ratings. Designed to sample two primary adjustment domains: adaptive behavior and interpersonal social competence. Scale can serve as source of information when students are being evaluated or referred for specialized services and/or placement. Items are written in a form appropriate for inclusion as objectives on Individualized Education Programs (IEPs) developed for handicapped students. Information derived is also useful in mainstreaming and social integration of handicapped students.

AB ABSTRACT: This series of computerized adaptive tests profiles students' cognitive strengths and weaknesses, learning styles and attitudes. Thirty individual tests are available covering key learning skills, verbal ability, visual/spatial ability, quantitative ability, reasoning ability, memory ability, preferences related to learning. May be used to identify those with gifts or deficiencies in cognitive skills. Profiles of all students' cognitive skills are produced. The computer selects the difficulty level of the student's next question based on the previous response during testing. WICAT software is used with WICAT systems hardware. Also runs on IBM-PC and Apple IIe.

 AB ABSTRACT: A projective technique, used to help understand the dynamics of self growth in family and school. Composed of two separate instruments: the Kinetic Family Drawing (KFD) and Kinetic School Drawing (KSD) in which the child or adolescent is asked to draw a picture of relevant school or family figures doing something. The examiner then attempts to clarify the child's drawings and to investigate the covert processes which affected them. Can be used as an "ice breaker technique" to facilitate child-examiner rapport, as a projective technique which investigates one aspect of an individual's personality and attitudes, or as a projective technique which assesses a child's perceptions of relationships among the child, peers, family, school, and significant others. Especially useful with children who have difficulty with verbal expression.

Both parent and teacher rate the child according to observations in home and school. Five P's can be used to gather information for the preparation of individualized education programs (IEPs). The thirteen scales are composed of 458 skills. Both developmental skills and behaviors that interfere with these skills are evaluated. Evaluation is done in fall and spring, at home and in school. Spanish and Hebrew versions are available.

AB ABSTRACT: Criterion-referenced assessment that evaluates the essential problem solving and adaptability skills all students need to become independent at school, home, and work. Using the checklist portion of this package, teacher responds to questions concerning individual students' decision making, independence, self evaluation, and adjustment skills. Answers may be either yes, no, or don't know. Then, from the answers recorded on the checklist, the teacher completes the curriculum guide. The curriculum guide consists of the same questions as the checklist, but in shorter form. Yes, no, and don't know are translated into 0, 1, and 2 respectively. These correspond to the level of priority each objective should be given. These answers allow the teacher to complete the Student Profile and Program Emphasis Profile by plotting the number of yes and no answers. This plotting should indicate the areas on which emphasis should be placed by the teacher concerning either individual students or the curriculum. May be used over a period of time to assess how the students and/or program are progressing. May be used with handicapped students.

AB ABSTRACT: Norm-referenced test consisting of five subtests designed to aid in the assessment of students suspected of being mentally retarded or otherwise developmentally disabled. Appropriate for use with mentally retarded students from ages 6 through 18 and with students of normal intelligence or giftedness from ages 5 through 18. Is used to evaluate student's day-to-day ability to take care of himself/herself, communicate with others, interact socially, perform academic tasks, and perform work-related prevocational tasks. The evaluator or respondent is the classroom teacher or other professional who has regular, relevant contact with the student being assessed. The ABI is meant to supplement or complement other data, including intelligence quotients, that are gathered in the course of clinical assessment. There is also a 50-item short form which can be used by professionals to conduct a primary screening to reevaluate students already in special education programs, or to investigate overall adaptive behavior in research studies.

AB ABSTRACT: The purpose of the Portland Problem Behavior Checklist (PPBC) is to provide specific information to specialists and support personnel who may need to further evaluate or prescribe services to children. It is designed to identify and rate the specific problems which classroom teachers perceive to warrant professional intervention services. The PPBC may also be used to assist in diagnostic or classification decisions. It is intended to be used as a screening instrument or as a supplement in a more comprehensive evaluation process. The identified problem behaviors may be used to design specific intervention programs for certified special education students or non-certified students with less severe problems. The targeted problem behaviors could be included into Individual Education Programs (IEP). The PPBC is a quick, useful aid for clinical referrals, personality assessment, behavioral intervention and special education evaluation. The PPBC can be used for children from K-6 and there are two forms--one for males and another for females.

 AB ABSTRACT: This instrument was developed to measure children's attitudes toward school and learning in the primary grades and should be considered an experimental instrument. The category system is the current working version. The student was asked a "do you" and "what do" questions. The responses were then classified. If the first response was inappropriate or ambiguous, the first codable response was scored. The categories for responses differ for the different items. This is an experimental instrument.

AB ABSTRACT: This questionnaire is one of several developed for use in Project Longstep. It is used to assess student characteristics and attitudes. The general emphasis of Project Longstep (Longitudinal Study of Educational Practices) was on the identification of changes in student achievement that occur as a result of intensive educational innovation. The instruments used in this project provided information on student cognitive performance, student characteristics, student attitudes, teacher characteristics and educational treatments. Student cognitive achievement was measured by standard, commercially developed instruments. Student characteristics and attitudes and teacher characteristics were assessed by questionnaires developed specifically for the study.

 AB ABSTRACT: This questionnaire is one of several developed for use in Project Longstep. It is used to assess student characteristics. It is for grades 3, 4, and 5 and is completed by the student. The general emphasis of Project Longstep (Latitudinal Study of Educational Practices) was on the identification of changes in student achievement that occur as a result of intensive educational innovation. The instruments used in this project provided information on student cognitive performance, student characteristics, student attitudes, teacher characteristics and educational treatments. Student cognitive achievement was measured by standard, commercially developed instruments. Student characteristics and attitudes and teacher characteristics were assessed by questionnaires developed specifically for the study.

ETS TEST COLLECTION VIA INTERNET

The ERIC Clearinghouse on Assessment and Evaluation has mounted on its gopher site a database to help locate tests. This database can be used by accessing the gopher at the address: GOPHER.CUA.EDU. The ERIC/ETS Test Collection is located under: Special Resources/ ERIC Clearinghouse on Assessment and Evaluation/ Test Locator/.

To search the database, enter keywords from the title or descriptors. For example, if you would like to search for tests on oral language proficiency, you could type in all three words, or oral and proficiency. You may get slightly different results, but you will have information on a lot of tests to look at. If you know the title of the test, the best way to search is to use the main words in the title, not necessarily all of the words in the title. If you are looking for the Wechsler Intelligence Scale for Children-Revised, the most efficient way to search is with the words Wechsler, intelligence, and children.

INTRODUCTION TO THE ETS TEST COLLECTION

The Educational Testing Service (ETS) Test Collection database contains records on over 9,500 tests and research instruments. These records describe the instruments and provide availability information. The Test Collection encompasses virtually all fields from vocational interest inventories for adults to instruments that measure shyness or predict recidivism in released criminal offenders, to assessment of managerial style, as well as education-related achievement and aptitude tests. The test descriptions are indexed with ERIC Thesaurus terms for subject accessibility.

This is a joint project of ETS and ERIC AE. ETS Library and Reference Services Division prepares the descriptions. ERIC AE maintains the database and hosts the Search System. ERIC AE has also begun to put ETS prepared test descriptions into the ERIC Resources in Education database. About 15 descriptions are added each month.

WHAT KIND OF TEST ARE DESCRIBED?

The Test Collection database collects a variety of instruments: achievement tests, aptitude tests, personality measures, attitude measures, career/vocational interest measures, occupational tests such as nursing or sales skills inventories. Many research instruments are collected as well as tests from commercial publishers.

WHAT INFORMATION IS AVAILABLE ABOUT THE TESTS?

The title, author, publication date and source appear in the record. An abstract describing the instrument, intended population, and uses accompanies the record. Subject terms give the age and grade level information as well as ERIC Thesaurus terms that describe the test.

DOES THE TEST COLLECTION DATABASE REVIEW THE TESTS?

No, other reference guides such as Mental Measurements Yearbooks, Tests: A Comprehensive Reference for Assessments in Psychology, Education, and Business, and Test Critiques distributed by Pro-Ed fill that role. You can search the tables of contents for the MMY and Test Critiques through the ERIC_AE Gopher Site.

ARE ALL THE TESTS IN THE DATABASE CURRENTLY IN PRINT?

No, some of the items are out of print. We suggest contacting the publisher for permission to use out-of-print materials. Phone numbers can be located using another menu option on the ERIC_AE Gopher Site.

WHERE CAN I SEE THE ACTUAL TEST INSTRUMENTS?

Availability information is provided in the records. Many colleges and universities have test collections in their libraries. Talk to your local librarian for more information.

WHAT IS TESTS IN MICROFICHE?

Tests in Microfiche is a subcollection of unpublished research instruments that are available for purchase in microfiche from the ETS Test Collection. The collection includes instruments appropriate for diverse populations (infants, learning disabled, adults, etc.) Each set spans a wide range of topics such as job satisfaction and attitudes towards school. More than 800 tests are available.

DOES THE TEST COLLECTION PROVIDE REFERENCE SERVICES?

No, the descriptive information in the database should help answer most questions people may have. And the publisher of the particular test is the most competent source of information. You can, however, route general inquiries to ERIC_AE@CUA.EDU.
